Renewal History

Enduring materials must be reviewed at least once every three years or more frequently if indicated by new scientific developments. An enduring material cannot be offered as an accredited activity for more than three years without some review by the course director(s) or designee to ensure that the content is still up-to-date and accurate. That review date must be disclosed to the audience, along with the original release date, and a termination date.

Third Renewal

Date the Course Is Currently Set to Expire

Sat, 08/27/2022

Planning Committee Member(s)

The planning committee membership must include representation by each of the disciplines for which credit is awarded (e.g. ACCME credit requires a physician on the planning committee).

Planning Committee: Course Director(s)

A course director is described as the leading member(s) of the planning committee. Course directors are responsible for assuring the activity is educationally sound and free of commercial bias.

Training that is recorded and posted on the web requires a signed consent form from anyone captured. This includes those who are captured during a streaming of an online training, or anyone's image or photo that is included in the recording,

Consent to Record.

No

Mitigation of Conflict of Interest

If any Course Director, or Planning Committee Member discloses any relevant financial relationship on their COI, then that relationship must be mitigated. This is a requirement of our board, which requires "all relevant financial relationships between individuals in control of content and ineligible companies must be mitigated." By identifying and mitigating relevant financial relationships, we work together to create a protected space to learn, teach, and engage in scientific discourse free from influence from organizations that may have an incentive to insert commercial bias into education.

Are there any relationships that require to be Mitigated?

No

Course Content Review
